Delivering lasting value with industry expertise, improved efficiencies, and workforce engagement

Why does employee engagement matter in a value-based healthcare environment? Healthcare providers with low employee engagement levels, especially among clinical staff, typically pay more than $1.1M annually in malpractice claims than those with the most engaged employees.<sup>1</sup>

$1.1M more
the amount HCPs with low employee engagement pay in malpractice claims<sup>1</sup>

If you could raise the level of staff engagement, you could limit this risk and:

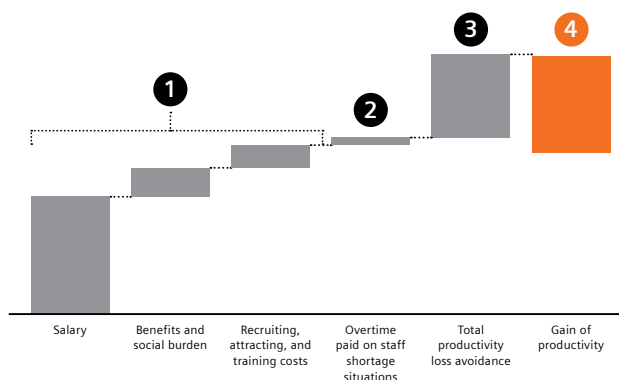

- Decrease patient volume burden
- Improve staff morale
- Reduce overtime
- Improve patient experience

How do you raise clinical staff engagement? With another pair of hands...vendor trained and ready to go.

A best-in-class solution, FlexForce™ Tech from Siemens Healthineers can help your clinical staff more efficiently deliver patient care—while helping you meet organizational needs for scalability, productivity, and quality without sacrifice.

This is about delivering lasting value to your staff and your organization. There isn't a one-size-fits-all answer to optimizing workflow efficiency or increasing employee engagement. In order to drive results, and ultimately, positive patient outcomes, you need to get the most out of your imaging systems and workforce. FlexForce Tech addresses today's healthcare challenges with a plan tailored to your department's specific needs and goals.

- 1 Anticipated staffing costs.
- 2 Overtime costs required to sustain operations when short staffed.
- 3 Productivity loss or patient leakage when short staffed.
- 4 Realized value potential from a highly productive technologist.
