WELCOME
HOME

A place like home

Welcome aboard! As you step inside your A350, you are greeted by a friendly ambiance that meets your personal taste and lets you rediscover flying. This is your very own private space, where you can truly relax. Free from any constraints, simply enjoy the company of your family and friends. Let the world go by as you fly miles high in peace and comfort.

A new sense of well-being

Traveling a lot sometimes feels like the aircraft is your second home. We want it to become your favorite one, so we make sure that you have everything you need to help you relax. How about a personal spa above the clouds? A host of features is waiting to boost your well-being. This room invites you to take a deep breath and unwind.

Flying time becomes quality time

The cabin's open-plan architecture and amenities create a bright and cozy setting that invites you to indulge in life's pleasures: fresh cooking, a family dinner served at a generous table, great conversations, kids playing and media entertainment of any kind on an extra-wide screen. A multi-functional and flexible cabin awaits you, providing luxuriant space for you to enjoy quality time with family and friends or relax any way you want.

A haven of rest and comfort

The room with the highest level of privacy, this is your personal hideaway for peaceful dreams and relaxing sleep. Together with a lavish ensuite bathroom, the exclusive sleeping area is located in the forward, most quiet cabin section. Expect to arrive at your destination more relaxed than when you started your trip. Have a good night and an even better morning!

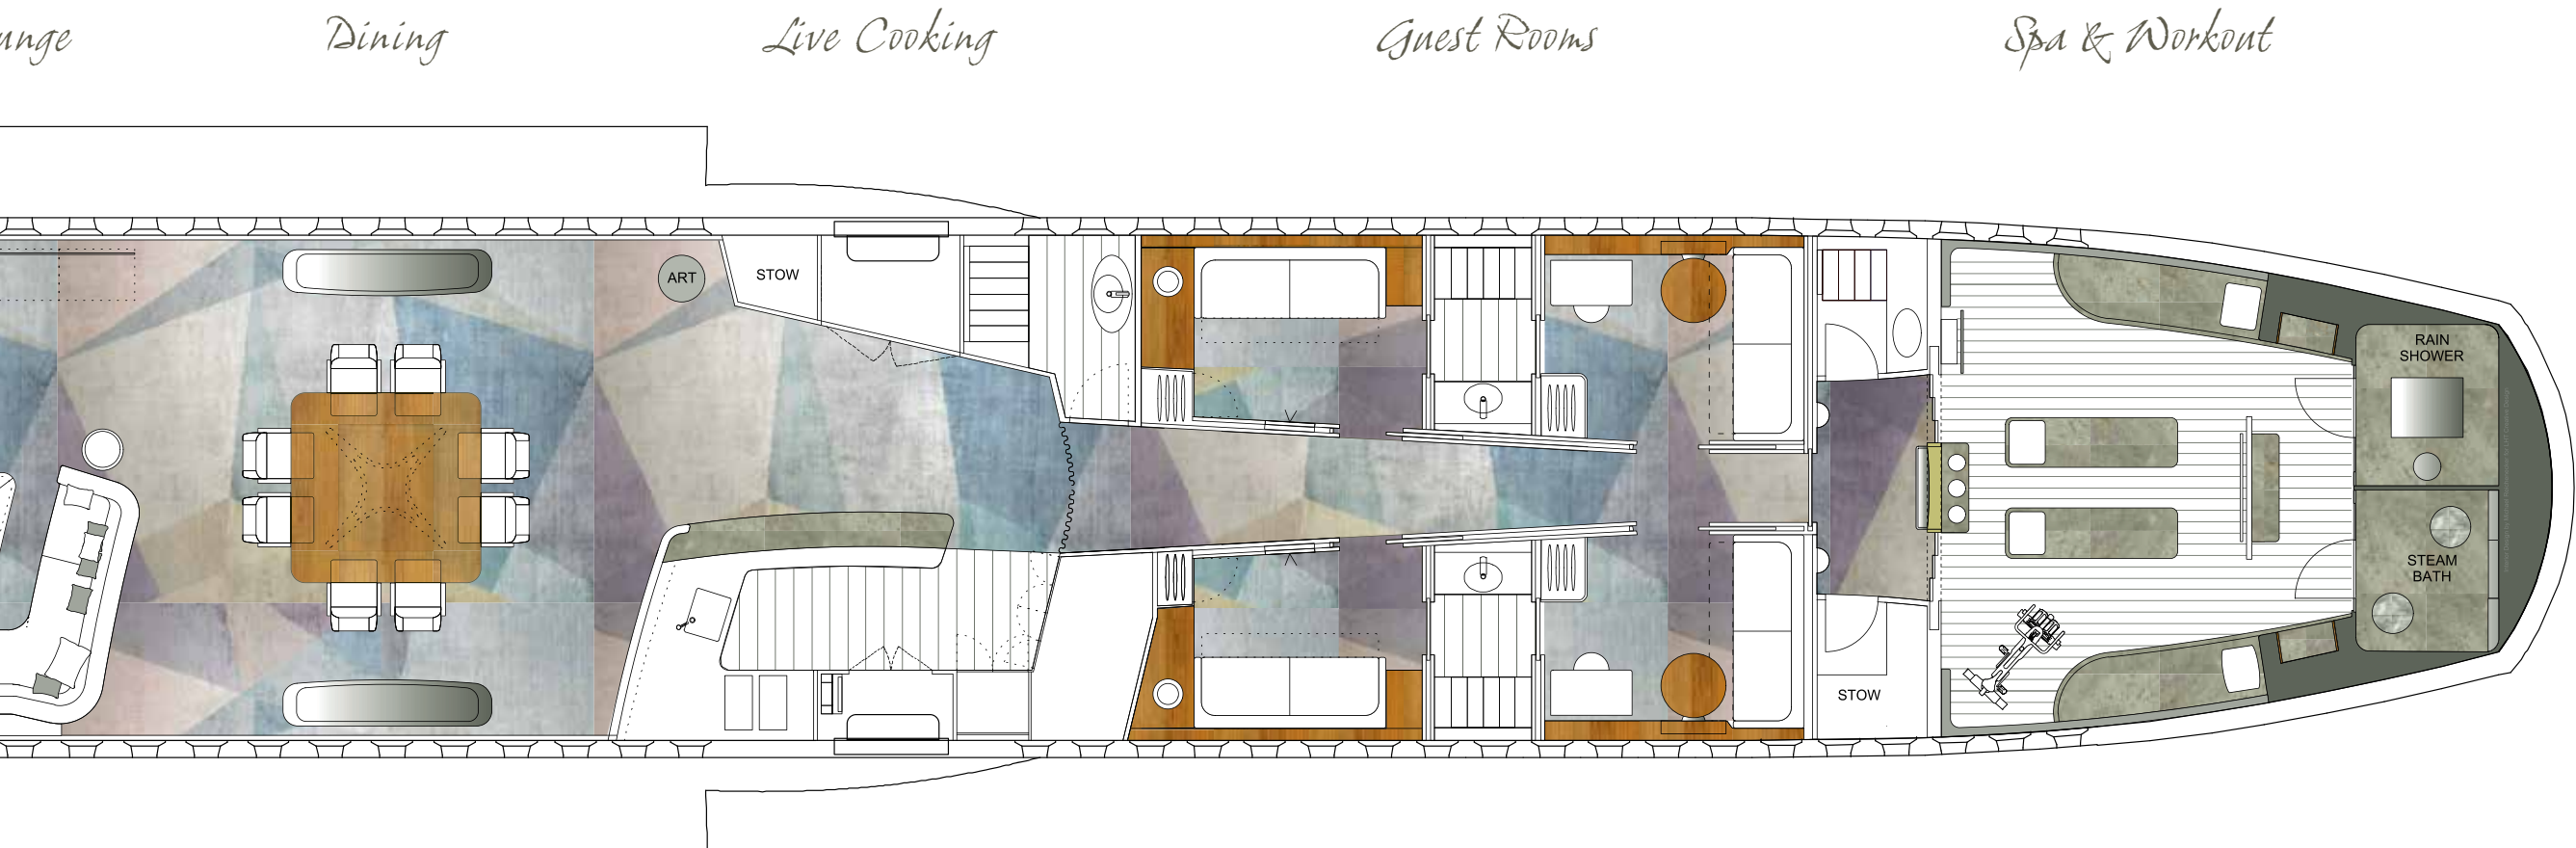

A masterpiece from front to back

Lufthansa Technik's A350 VIP design is an innovative approach to break up the constraints in cabin interior design, enabling you to set personal standards in the way you fly. We reached out to explore all dimensions of creativity, providing you with comfort of the very highest order. Just like every single part of the interior is meant to be a masterpiece, so is the cabin as a whole.

"An innovative design to meet the demands of our customers: privacy for valuable family time, connectivity in regard to all communication channels and a comprehensive approach toward health and well-being."

Michael Reichenecker, Aircraft Interior Architect

Because you deserve the best

Every home needs constant upkeep to maintain its welcoming atmosphere – and so does your aircraft. That's why we don't save the best for last. The best support is the one you don't even notice. One you can always rely on – no matter what, no matter where.

So, just as you embrace every moment on board of your A350, we welcome your precious plane in our world of uncompromising and meticulous technical and operational support.

Feel at home with Lufthansa Technik.
