By car

Take the Autobahn 115 (Avus) from Hanover, Leipzig, Nuremberg or the A 100 and at the junction follow the signs to Charlottenburg, then take the exit at Spandauer Damm, turn right, go straight ahead. After passing Schloss Charlottenburg turn left, cross Luisenplatz and Mierendorffstraße turn right to Mierendorffplatz and then right into the Kaiserin-Augusta-Allee till you get to Goslarer Platz. Or take the A 115 or A 111 till you reach the motorway interchange Autobahndreieck Charlottenburg, take the exit for Jakob-Kaiser-Platz onto the Tegeler Weg, turn left into the Osnabrücker Straße and follow it to its end, then cross Mierendorffplatz to Kaiserin-Augusta-Allee and follow it till you reach Goslarer Platz.

By train

At Berlin Hauptbahnhof (main station) take the Expressbus TXL (direction: Airport Berlin Tegel) to the stop at Turmstraße/Beusselstraße. Change to bus M27 (direction: S+U Bahnhof Jungfernheide) and get out at Goslarer Platz. The Institute is directly in front of the bus stop.

From the airport to the Fraunhofer Institute FOKUS

The airport Flughafen-Tegel is approx. 5 km away from FOKUS. Take the express bus (line X9) to the bus stop S+U-Bhf Jungfernheide. There you change to the bus line M27 (direction S-Bhf Pankow). Leave the bus at Goslarer Platz. You can also take a taxi, it costs about 10 EUR (one way).

The airport Flughafen-Schönefeld is located approx. 30 km southeast from the center of the city. There is the S-Bahn service S9 and the Airportexpress (Regionalbahn) that will bring you in approx. 40 min to the station Berlin Hauptbahnhof. At Hauptbahnhof please follow the description given above.

The fare for a taxi will be about 50,00 EUR.
